1900-2011

A Rich History

The first Helensville A&P Show took place in January 1900. Arranged by a keen group of locals, the Show began at the same site it occupies now, what used to be the Stewart's paddock at the North end of town. In 1909, under the direction of a newly formed committee, the Show moved to opposite the Kaipara Dairy Factory on Mill Road. It remained here (except for a few Shows at the Aitkenhead's Parakai farm) until 1955, when the property was sold and the Show returned to the original site, by then owned by the Helensville District Racing Club.

The A&P Show was always a highlight of the year for many locals and the whole district would get involved. Dairy, equestrian and indoor sections were strong from the outset and many locals recall the busy preparation in the week before the event. People travelled by train from Auckland to make the day and many others arrived by horse.

Sideshows were a popular feature, though coconut shies and merry-go-rounds preceded the huge attractions we have today. One ever popular contest involved lining beer bottles up on a fence which riders had to race past on their horses and try to knock off with a stock whip.

Show day used to end with a big ball in the evening, the favourite part for many ladies and young people. Everybody put on their Sunday best, often after having raced home for milking, and returned to the show grounds to chat, drink and dance the night away.

The Show has been associated with many other organisations over the years, including the local Lions Club, Plunket, the Historical Society and the Scouts. In fact many locals are closely involved with several of these groups at once.

Weather features prominently in our history, holding it in early December proved too risky and was one of the main reasons that the show date was changed in 1972 to be the last Saturday in February. Helensville A&P Show has continued to thrive while many other A&P shows have succumbed to changing times. Helensville A&P Show is now the largest one day show in the Northern Region and to this day is Helensville's largest event, a great day out for everybody.
